

CLS 56 Digital Repository Program

The 56th Annual Meeting of the Chicago Linguistic Society*

Organizers: Matthew Hewett, Corinne Kasper, Sanghee Kim, Naomi Kurtz, James Waller

How to navigate: Click on 'Abstract' or a paper's title to be redirected to its page.

Special Session: HERITAGE LANGUAGE LINGUISTICS

Abel Cruz Flores (Georgetown University)	Abstract	Linguistic cues evoked in representing gender systems in heritage grammars
---	--------------------------	--

Special Session: RESUMPTIVITY

Johannes Hein & Doreen Georgi (Universität Potsdam)	Abstract	On the interaction of extraction and argument marking in Asante Twi
Kenta Kakenami (Aoyama Gakuin University)	Abstract	On the extraction of predicative phrases in English non-restrictive relative clauses

Special Session: SPEECH ACTS

Aitor Lizardi Ituarte (Euskal Herriko Unibertsitatea [University of the Basque Country], UPV/EHU)	Abstract	Different scope relations between discourse particles and intonation: The case of Basque ba
Robert Henderson & Jian Gang Ngui (University of Arizona)	Abstract	Proposing to ignore discourse updates in Colloquial Singaporean English
Beáta Gyuris (MTA Research Institute for Linguistics, Budapest)	Abstract	Putting Hungarian rise-fall declaratives on the conversational scoreboard

General Session Talks

Irina Burukina & Alexandra Kubatieva (RIL HAS, ELTE & RSUH)	Abstract	Control in event nominals revealed by anti-passive
--	--------------------------	--

*Papers are organized alphabetically by first author's last name.

Chaoyi Chen (Rutgers University)	Abstract	Presupposition licenses limited ellipsis: Evidence from the non-verbal wh-question in Mandarin
Koji Kawahara (Nagoya University of Foreign Studies)	Abstract	Introducing iconicity: The semantics of ideophones and the quotative particle
Qiongpeng Luo & Anqi Zhang (Nanjing University)	Abstract	The architecture of the perfective viewpoint aspect in Mandarin
Jian Gang Ngui (University of Arizona)	Abstract	A unified analysis of Mandarin long and short bei-passives
Jason Overfelt (Oakland University)	Abstract	Nipped in the bud: Failed sprouting in not-at-issue content

Posters

Brian Agbayani & Toru Ishii (California State University, Fresno & Meiji University)	Abstract	Multiple sluicing constructions in Japanese
Irina Burukina (Eötvös Loránd University, MTA Research Institute for Linguistics)	Abstract	Introducing an Addressee: When embedded C⁰ projects an argument
Duk-Ho Jung & Grant Goodall (University of California San Diego)	Abstract	Sprouting is not sensitive to islands
Demet Kayabaşı & Kadir Gökgöz (Boğaziçi University)	Abstract	The causative-inchoative alternation in Turkish Sign Language and the age of acquisition effects on complex clauses
Elango Kumaran (University of Southern California)	Abstract	Two types of external argument in Karuk
Rebecca Lee (University of Colorado Boulder)	Abstract	Ideology, frame semantics, and variation: A cognitive sociolinguistic study of the English lexeme racist
Ora Matushansky (SFL (CNRS / Université Paris-8 / SFL) / UiL OTS / Utrecht University)	Abstract	The dual nature of the Romanian neuter
Andrew McInnerney (University of Michigan)	Abstract	Reevaluating the reanalysis analysis of prepositional passives [Handout, Presentation]
Rachel Rudolph & Alexander Kocurek (Auburn University & Cornell University)	Abstract	Comparing conventions

